

all food hours overleaf

Traditional breakfasts . . .

Full English

2 eggs (poached or fried), 2 rashers back bacon
2 sausages, black pudding, mushroom, hash browns baked beans, tomato, 2 slices of toast or fried bread £10

Small English

1 egg (poached or fried), 1 rasher back bacon
1 sausage, black pudding, mushroom, hash browns baked beans, tomato, 1 slice of toast £6

Eggs Benedict

2 poached eggs, 2 rashers streaky bacon
brioche bun, hollandaise sauce, chives £10

Pancakes & Bacon

2 rashers streaky bacon
2 pancakes American style, maple syrup £10

Pancake & Topping

1 pancake, maple syrup or chocolate sauce £4

Extra toast £2
Marmalade 50p

Our chefs...

Head Chef
Louise Stevenson

Assistant Chefs
Oksana Ivanyk
Craig Hampton

Patron, Bernard – wine lover,
City of London banqueting

The tale...

King James I was a very superstitious man. He was convinced that all the evil in the country stemmed from witchcraft. So he sent out his Witchfinder General, Matthew Hopkins, to hunt down all the so-called witches in the land.

Hopkins received a reward each time he and his henchmen got a witch to confess. He was very thorough, but many innocents were persecuted – most of them women.

The Witches of Guilsborough, a pamphlet of 1612, recounts the trial of Agnes Browne and Joan Vaughan from this village. Their ‘crime’ was causing the Lady of the Manor and her brother-in-law “great pain and fits”.

Legend has it that, a fortnight before the trial, Browne and Vaughan tried to escape on the back of a large female pig (or sow). The two accused, along with one Katherine Gardiner, “did ride one night to Ravenstrop, all upon a sowes back, to visit Mother Rhoades, an old witch who lived there.

“Before they came to her house, the old witch died and, at her last, cried out that she would meet them in another place within a month after.”

Sadly, Agnes Browne and Joan Vaughan both hanged at Northampton in July 1612.

... the end

Food hours...

Main Menu

Wed-Fri 12-2, 6-9pm
Sat: 12-4, 6-9pm

Breakfast Menu

Fri-Sat: 9-11.30am

Sunday Menu

Sun: 12-4pm

Please book ahead
to avoid disappointment:

text/WhatsApp: 07748 962836

phone: 01604 743888

email: info@thewitchandsow.co.uk

Instagram: @witchsow

The Witch & Sow
@ The Ward Arms, High Street
Guilsborough NN6 8PY

01604 743888

07748 962836

www.thewardarms.uk